

August 17, 2016

Dear Valued Stretch Film Customer,

We have been notified that our resin suppliers plan to implement a raw material increase effective September 1, 2016. This increase is the result of strong worldwide demand and tight supply.

Based on this, IPG® will announce a 6% increase on all SuperFlex® and StretchFlex® products effective with orders placed on or after September 23, 2016. All orders must specify immediate shipment, be limited to less than one month's normal average film purchases, and ship no later than October 7, 2016. IPG reserves the right to accept or reject orders based on resin availability.

Similar to previous increases, our commitment is to stay abreast of on-going market developments. Should it become necessary to make further changes, IPG will promptly communicate those to our strategic partners.

In the meantime, your local sales representative will be contacting you to discuss this increase in greater detail. As always, IPG remains committed to offering the maximum amount of support possible and greatly appreciates your loyalty and business.

Sincerely,
